act. He clearly saw and predicted the whirlwind of financial disaster that has been and still is sweeping over our land and leaving in its trail ruin and desolation. He plead with his associates in Congress to help stay the impending storm. As a result of his persistence and person magnetism the silver commission was appointed. As chairman of that commission he performed heroic service in the cause of bimetallicism. The arguments and conclusions of his report have never been answered. They are unanswerable and will triumph. His zeal and matchless courage are justly the pride of Nevada. A few years ago when thoroughly convinced that his party colleagues would not be divorced from their golden idols, he rendered his political shackles asunder and cast them to the winds.

"During the repeal of the Sherman act we find him doing yeoman service in the great cause. He flooded the country with silver literature. He helped marshal the silver hosts and captured the Chicago convention, a thrilling achievement, a surprise to the world. And when it was heralded over the land that it had received the endorsement of over six million free American votes we note the opposition hastening over the ocean supplicating the money changers to permit them to remonetize silver or to sink.

"Jones of Nevada and Teller of Colorado are the logical commanders of the silver forces in Congress. Neither of them can be spared. Colorado has spoken, Nevada speaks today. For his unflinching faithfulness to the cause of free coinage, for his unbending courage in the espousal of the rights of the masses, for his patriotism and his love for humanity Nevada will arm John P. Jones a new for the conflict, and in doing so, Mr. President, we cannot honor him more than he has honored us."
